Greenwood Resigns From County Board

Harry T. Greenwood of Apples Corners, a member of the Columbiana County School Board, handed in his resignation today to Supt. James L. McBride, clerk of the county board.

Greenwood cited added responsibilities connected with his position as clerk of the Beaver Local Board of Education and a physical condition that promises to become a permanent hindrance as reasons for his resignation.

Greenwood was appointed to the county board April 2, 1957, succeeding Jack Posenel of West Point who had replaced Paul Wilms Oct. 16, 1956.

McBride said Greenwood's resignation will be presented to the county board at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Mental Health Program Plans Are Advanced

Plans for the 1958 program in "Mental Health in the Classroom" series were outlined by Mrs. Paul Hum, general chairman, at Wednesday's regular meeting of the executive board of Columbiana County Mental Health Association in the Hotel Wick, Lisbon.

Salem Teachers Association, with Frank Hoopes as president, will be host to all teachers associations in the county for this annual convocation, which will be Oct. 9 in Salem's new Senior High School.

Arrangements for the evening dinner program will be made by Mrs. Fred Cope of the Senior High School, and Mrs. G. G. Doyle of Reilly School will be in charge of registration. Superintendent E. S. Kerr will head the hospitality committee, and Cornell Mondo, Lisbon director of guidance, heads the program committee.

An informal tour of the new building from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., will open the evening's program. Dinner in the cafeteria will be served from 6 to 7:30 p.m. "Pupil Personnel" is the subject of the panel discussion, which will take place from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The board recommended that invitations be extended to other county educational agencies, parent-teacher groups and boards of education, and that no charge be made to visitors who wish to attend the panel discussion only.

In other business, the board agreed to extend the Speakers Bureau, adding the names of Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, Paul Howard of Salem, the Rev. C. O. Armstrong of Lisbon, Mayor Bill Shaub of Wellsville and Bill Weir of Salem to the roster of speakers on mental health available to community groups.

Judge Tobin presented the need for a recreational program for the standpoint of mental health and proposed committee action.

October 7 is the date of the next meeting.

Ike to Address Nation Tonight

President Seeks Far East Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower goes on nationwide radio-TV tonight to seek more support among the peoples of America and the free world for his Far East policies.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen at Eisenhower's Newport, R.I., summer headquarters that the President would make a major address from the White House at 9 p.m. (EST).

It will be carried live over ABC television and major radio networks, with NBC and CBS television carrying delayed telecasts at 10:15 p.m. (EST).

Hagerty said Eisenhower decided to make the talk after consulting by telephone with Secretary of State Dulles. He said the President would return to Newport Friday morning.

Two events Tuesday apparently supported what Dulles' public affairs advisers have been telling him: the U.S. public and the allies were not comprehending the whys and wherefores of the China crisis.

Those events were Dulles' 45-minute news conference Tuesday morning and his hour-long conference Tuesday afternoon with Australian Ambassador Robert G. Casey.

Casey, a veteran diplomat, was reported to have voiced uneasiness about U.S. policies. But after an

U.S., Britain, USSR To Meet in Geneva

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain have agreed to meet the Soviet Union in Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate for a world-wide ban on nuclear weapons tests, informed diplomats reported today.

American and British notes delivered in Moscow Wednesday answered communications from Soviet Premier Khrushchev last month on suspension of nuclear weapon tests.

The Western countries did not indicate in their notes at what level the Geneva talks should take place.

The talks were first proposed by the Americans and British after scientists representing the Communists and Western powers had agreed on steps needed to supervise any worldwide arrangement.

Washington and London proposed that test firing would cease from Oct. 31 provided the Soviet Union agreed to join the conference in Geneva. They suggested the negotiations should be for a pact to suspend testing on a year-to-year basis.

In his reply, Khrushchev countered with the proposal that any agreement to quit testing should be permanent.

Supreme Court Tackles Issue Of Integration

Group to Study Segregation Problem In Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court tackles today the momentous issue of how fast public school integration must move ahead.

The precise legal issue is a narrow one—whether a plan of integration, once in operation, may lawfully be suspended because of popular opposition to it. But the impact of the court's ruling is certain to be far reaching.

Specifically, the court will determine whether Little Rock's Central High School must readmit Negro students, whose attendance there last year brought on violence and the subsequent use of troops.

But the decision, whatever it is, will throw out guidelines to federal district judges grappling elsewhere with vexing problems of applying the high court's 1955 command for "all deliberate speed" in integrating schools.

More Time

Any delay for Little Rock could mean more time for other areas of the Southland in their bitter stand against having Negroes and whites go to school together.

But a ruling that Little Rock is not entitled to suspend its integration program until January 1961 would be the signal for district judges in other areas to take a firmer stand on integration orders. Several judges have withheld final orders until the court rules.

There was no indication how soon the Supreme Court would rule, but a decision was generally expected by the weekend. The Little Rock school is scheduled to open Monday, and the court called its second extraordinary session in two weeks to hear the case in advance of that time.

Actually, the court already has heard—and read in legal briefs—substantially what the opposing lawyers prepared to say today.

Two weeks ago the court heard the plea of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for quick removal of legal barriers to the immediate resumption of integration in Central High.

Granted Suspension

The new litigation started during the summer, when Federal Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., granted a 2½-year suspension of court-ordered integration at Little Rock. On Aug. 18, the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis reversed Judge Lemley's order, but later granted a stay to permit appeal.

The arguments two weeks ago were on making the Court of Appeals decision effective until the high court could rule. But the court delayed action on the temporary move and called for new arguments today on the merits of the case. Its decision thus will be final on the issue.

School Association Member Drive Begun

Although the new senior high school will not open until Monday, a large number of students reported at the school this morning to join the Salem High School Association.

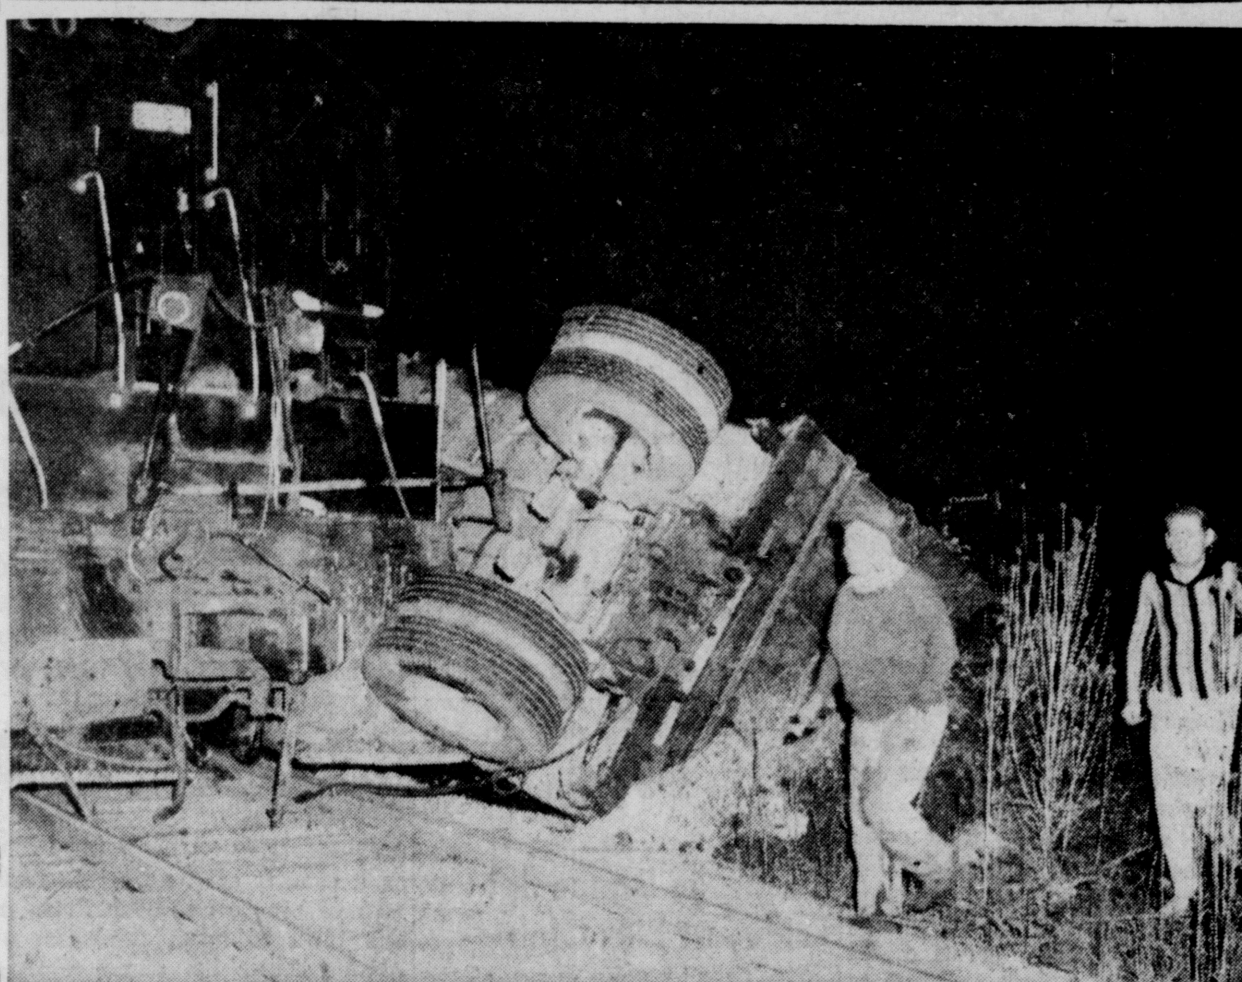

Membership in the association permits the students to attend all school functions, football and basketball games, assemblies, etc., at a special price. Only a down payment of $2.50 is needed for a student to join, it was pointed out by Fred Burchfield, school business manager.

The association tickets also will be obtainable Friday from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at home rooms.

Train Strikes Truck Near Rogers

Three Persons Injured In Highway Accidents

Three persons were injured and two drivers were arrested in four traffic accidents occurring on district highways Wednesday.

Walter Rockwell of New Middleton escaped serious injury at 8 p.m. Wednesday when a Pennsylvania Railroad train struck his double truck-trailer at a crossing near Rogers.

The truck driver admitted he saw the crossing blinker lights flashing but tried to beat the train.

H. J. McCall, Rogers deputy marshal who investigated the mishap said, "The engine struck the rig between the two-wheel trailer and scattering the truck's load of scrap meat over an area covering 625 square feet."

Volunteers worked for seven hours, until 3 a.m. today, to clean up the mess. The truck, a Darling Co. vehicle from East Liverpool, was on its way to Cleveland with the load of meat scraps collected from several supermarkets.

McCall said the train was not traveling very fast at the time of the collision.

The driver was arrested for failing to obey a railroad signal. He sustained a laceration of the head and bruises but did not require treatment.

Mrs. Samuel L. Crawford, 71, of East Liverpool, received contusions and abrasions of the left arm in a mishap on the Y and O Road, five miles north of East Liverpool, at 6:50 p.m., state highway patrolmen said.

Mrs. Crawford was riding in a car driven by her husband, Samuel, 69, into the path of an auto operated by Mrs. Helen M. Fiber, 39, of Glenmore, causing a collision.

Mrs. Fiber was treated by an East Liverpool physician for lacerations of the right knee. Mrs. Crawford was treated at the East Liverpool City Hospital.

Mr. Crawford was cited for making an improper left turn.

Patrolmen said Larry Muntz, 16, of RD 2, Salem, failed to signal a turn, causing a mishap on Rt. 45, one mile south of Salem, at 7:10 p.m.

The other car involved in the accident was operated by Earl Dinsmoor, 64, of Wellsville.

A car driven by Samuel B. Thompson, 18, of Lisbon, struck and killed a deer on Rt. 164, four miles north of Lisbon, at 11:20 p.m. Patrolmen said Thompson was permitted to keep the deer.

Communist Guns Scatter Convoy At Quemoy

U.S. Warships Don't Enter Into Heavy Shelling

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Nationalist supply ships, convoyed by American warships, reached Quemoy beach today but were forced back by a heavy Red artillery barrage before they could unload the bulk of their cargo.

Associated Press correspondent Gene Kramer, in a dispatch from Quemoy off the Red mainland, said an "intense saturation shelling" forced two supply ships to withdraw after they had unloaded only a few supplies for the beleaguered Nationalist garrison.

American warships stood off at a distance, he said.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said earlier that the supply ships had returned undamaged to their Pescadores base after unloading.

First Since Monday

This was the first attempt to run supplies to the garrison since Monday, when Communist artillery fire blew up an ammunition ship on the Quemoy beach and forced another to retreat after losing most of its cargo.

Stormy weather prevented the dispatch of convoys on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Red artillery opened up at the appearance of the convoy today after being silent 21 hours.

Meantime, the admiral commanding the fleet's carrier planes said that any Communist planes attacking U. S. aircraft will be pursued to the coast of Communist China and possibly beyond.

Convoyed Supplies The American ships convoyed the desperately needed supplies through the international waters of the Formosa Strait for the first time on Sunday. That time there was no Red opposition.

The second supply convoy was Monday. Communist artillery blew up a Nationalist ammunition ship on the beach. The other landing

Boy, 8, Tells of Slaying Parents

New York Youngster Calmly Confesses

NEW YORK (AP)—Melvin Nimer Jr., a blond 8-year-old with a crew-cut, says he plotted the murder of his parents—and carried it out with a kitchen knife while they slept.

His calmly told story fits the facts of the bloody Staten Island stabbing originally attributed to a white-masked intruder.

But the district attorney emphasized that there is still much to be explained about the Sept. 2 murders and that Melvin has not been arrested.

A psychiatric report on the child indicated he has a persecution complex and a personality compatible with the commission of violence.

The boy's uncle, Dr. Harold Nimer, said he does not believe the confession to the murders of Dr. Melvin Nimer and his pretty brunette wife Lore Jean, both 31.

The boy's confession was obtained by Dist. Atty. John M. Braisted of Richmond County last Saturday, but was not disclosed until late Wednesday night.

In the meantime, the calm, dry-eyed youngster flew to Utah and attended his parents' funeral—apparently never indicating that he had confessed.

Braisted said Melvin—taken to the house of death Wednesday night—indicated to the manner in which his parents were murdered.

No matter what the final findings in the case may be the boy could not be charged with homicide because of his age.

Braisted said young Melvin told him:

That he plotted the murders days in advance—apparently aggrieved by some real or fancied actions of his parents. Braisted declined to say just what the grievances were.

That he seized a knife from the kitchen, walked upstairs to the parents' bedroom, and stabbed his father first, then his mother.

That his father somehow staggered to his feet and chased him downstairs, then collapsed there—where police found him.

That he washed off the knife and replaced it in the kitchen.

1958 May Be Record Low for Polio Cases

NEW YORK (AP)—Four states—Michigan, Texas, Florida and California—are taking the brunt of this season's polio attack, and late reports indicate that Detroit may be the hardest hit city.

However, over-all, the United States may be experiencing a record low year for the post-Salk vaccine period.

The nation showed 2,223 cases for the 35 weeks ended Aug. 30. This compares with 3,879 cases for the same period last year and 13,711 for the average period of the years 1953-57.

But 40 per cent of the cases fell on four states. Texas had 297; Michigan had 292, Florida had 160 and California had 146 for 35-week totals.

And later figures from the National Foundation's Wayne (Detroit) County chapter showed the case load had jumped a 356—more than the whole state of Michigan reported 11 days before.

Other high states according to U.S. Public Health Service totals were: New York 111, New Jersey 110 and Ohio 94.

There have been several outbreaks of polio across the nation. Another city reporting a sizable number was Miami, Fla. National Foundation spokesmen said there were a reported 66 cases in Dade County.

The reason polio still afflicts so many in the nation is because so many people have failed to get their Salk vaccine shots, the National Foundation says.

Georgia Police Arrest Fugitive From Ohio

ROCKMART, Ga. (AP)—A man wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for armed robbery in Ohio was arrested by FBI agents Wednesday nearly three years after he fled the Middle West.

N. R. Johnson of the FBI identified him as Ray Bambrel, 41, of Hamilton, Ohio.

Johnson said agents nabbed him on a country road near the small farm where he had been living in this town 35 miles northwest of Atlanta under the name of Dale O'Connell. He surrendered quietly.

Gambrel was given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Rowell Stanton at Rome and ordered held in Floyd County jail there under $25,000 bond. A formal hearing will be held at an early date.

The FBI said the arrest followed tips from private citizens who recognized him from photographs of wanted men.

In Cincinnati, Ohio, Special Agent Ed D. Mason said Gambrel had been identified as one of two men who robbed a Dayton couple of $900 in cash and $5,350 in U.S. Savings Bonds in 1951.

Is Your Slip Showing?

A number of metropolitan cities are tackling the problem of redevelopment to bring the people back to the city and one point stressed at the recent "save the cities" conference held in Cincinnati was to make the downtown areas so attractive that people will want to go to town.

Salem does not have the manifold problems of the larger cities, but yet conditions do exist that could be considered a blight on the community's progress.

One doesn't have to look far to see neglect, unkempt buildings, cluttered lots and rear exits, just to mention a few. Perhaps we're living so close to the situation we've been numbed by its existence but visitors have been quick to criticize.

Some downtown property owners have kept pace with the times, making an investment in modernization which has even brought dividends in increased business. Others, lacking any civic pride or faith in the future of our fair city, do nothing.

We salute those who have remodeled and done a little fixin' here and there. Sometimes it doesn't take much but the entire "new look," if it is to be realized, will not be accomplished unless everyone involved makes their own self-appraisal and then acts.

Any deterioration in the downtown district only invites greater expansion in the suburbs.

The challenge is obvious.

One of the Constancies

The golden wedding anniversary of Sir Winston and Lady Churchill on Sept. 12 has ignited interest in something pleasant to think about for a change. There may even be time taken out to dwell on some of the constancies of human existence that are to politics what the Rock of Gibraltar is to the pebble on the beach.

Inevitably, the half century in which the Churchills have stood together in the spotlight of public life will produce the question: What was the secret of their happiness in each other's companionship?

Sir Winston, as is admirers throughout the world know, has not been an easy man to get along with. He was a storm center when he was married in 1903, and part of his genius as a popular leader was his ability to be endlessly controversial.

But, if there has to be a secret, Winston Churchill did not include the woman he married in his controversial outlook. He worked diligently to maintain his marriage on an even keel as he worked to capsize things he thought were not worth saving.

In an era when nearly everything tottered and toppled, the Churchills maintained the one constancy that mattered most to both of them — their companionship. And if there are a few million of their contemporaries who believe that was more important than a couple of World Wars and an empire in decline, they can be sure that Sir Winston and his lady think so, too.

There finally comes a time when only the constancies seem to have mattered at all — when it seems everything else must have been as inconsequential when it happened as it turned out to be in perspective.

Best wishes and congratulations to the Churchills and all others who manage to learn what is important in time to celebrate golden wedding anniversaries.

Nothing to Do For An Encore

As far as we and the judges of the Miss American Pageant can see the young women who compete for the biggest money in the beauty business are as handsome now as they were yesteryear and a long time before that. But they are getting no handsomer — and this is becoming troublesome. The beauty business has hit a plateau.

The girls who become involved in it, all the way from contestants for football queen to those who go after the $50,000-odd that the Miss America title is estimated to be worth, are uniformly beautiful.

There is no difference to the public eye between the winner and the runner-up, nor is there any substantial difference between the runner-up and the gorgeous creatures counted out in some earlier round because the field had to be narrowed down.

The newest Miss America, Mary Ann Mobley, is as beautiful as Marian Ann McKnight was last year and as Sharon Kay Richie, Lee Ann Meriwether, Evelyn Margaret Ay, Neva Jean Langley, Collen Kay Hutchins and all the other Miss Americas have been since 1921. When you've seen one you've seen 'em all, and how the judges can pick a winner is a puzzle.

They all look like winners. We sincerely hope the losers do not go back home to spend the rest of their lives moping indoors because they didn't get first prize. It all depends on the angle of vision.

N. Y. Notebook

By Peter Trueman

Ancient philosophers once debated how many angels could dance on the head of a pin. They don't talk about angels in a ramshackle penny arcade on 42nd St. but they do know who can do what on the head of a pin.

"Who" is an unknown South American artist, and "what" is colored enamel paintings — so minutely detailed that in the portraits a good squinter can spot whites of the eyes.

The arcade has 18 pinhead "canvases" set up under strong lights and magnifying glasses. It's the smallest art gallery in the world, for the whole collection could be "hung" in a pillbox with room for a few dozen more.

Daubing away with hairs plucked from his own head, the South American took four years to paint the pictures. A few minutes of negotiation plus a little more than $1,000 was all it cost the arcade to buy them.

Preserved in pinhead portraits are George Washington, President Eisenhower, ex-President Truman, Argentina's Peron and wife, Stalin, Malenkov and Albert Einstein.

In one tiny landscape, the Statue of Liberty raises a detailed torch arm high over a New York harbor sunset. Another depicts every last window in a colorful Spanish mission.

A RECENT COLUMBIA University publication, titled "Some Personality Differences in Children Related to Strict or Permissive Parental Discipline," indicates that the child with a free rein at home will probably grow up to be a more valuable human being.

A Teachers College research team tested New York children from both "strict" and "permissive" homes. And it appears that parents who think a child should be "seen and not heard," or "soundly whipped" if he makes so much as a peep, are barking up the wrong tree.

Results went something like this: Thirty-three per cent of children from permissive homes (and by "permissive" they mean as free as the breeze) were rated "highly creative, spontaneous, original." Only 5 per cent of the children from strict homes got the same rating.

Six out of every seven children showing initiative were from permissive homes; while four out of every five children who glanced shyly around, asking what to do next, were from strict homes.

Admittedly, those results might have been expected.

In the first place, researchers said, parents from a permissive home were in all likelihood rather original and creative themselves. And secondly, it was only natural to expect highly dependent children from homes where pop decided every last move.

But the third conclusion was the one which carried knockout drops for unexpected researchers.

Three out of every four youngsters who were "easy-to-get-along-with," cooperative or best able to make friends, were from homes where discipline was given a soft pedal.

The only research points on which the two sets of children scored the same marks were "self control, inner security, and happiness."

TO CUT TRAFFIC DEATH tolls, eight New York City squad cars will be equipped with 18-inch speedometers, mounted on the roofs and aimed astern.

Police Commissioner Kennedy expects motorists to notice the out-sized speedos on police cars ahead of them, and check their speeds. But as one heckler pointed out, who's going to continue breaking the speed limit with a cop car in front of them, speedometer on the roof or not?

TAKING THINGS at "face value" is one bad habit Cleve Backster gave up long ago.

For after 12 years of scientifically detecting lies, the New Yorker knows that the other guy's facial expression is a pretty meagre clue to what he's really thinking.

His associate, M. Souza, grinned agreement. "I know just how badly you can be buffeted," added Mr. Backster.

The two experts were discussing the lie detection business. One of their biggest problems, it turned out, was with unqualified operators. An untrained man with the best equipment, they hinted, could do as good a detecting job with a couple of garden variety turnips.

The bodily changes accompanying one phase of the emotion fear, they explained, was the raw material with which a lie detector worked. But other emotions would produce similar polygraphic readings.

One of the most important facets of lie detecting therefore, lies in a highly skilled questioning technique. If other emotions were interfering with reactions, then only a good technique would bring it to light.

"It's very simple," Mr. Backster was saying. "You couldn't go into a New York store, buy the most expensive surgical instruments and expect to become a surgeon overnight."

But there are a number of lie detecting agencies around, they added, who are using that same kind of reasoning. It was for this purpose that interested firms across the country formed the U.S. Academy for Scientific Interrogation. Their aim is to discredit the fly-by-nights.

But despite the fact that lie detecting is suffering the same growing pains as psychiatry, medicine and dentistry in their early days, it is apparently coming into its own.

A Very Probable Early Casualty

Flags of Necessity

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It has been reported by ship operators doing business in Russian ports that the Soviet government is imposing discriminatory harbor charges on ships registered in countries other than the nations of which their owners are citizens.

This would apply to the United States ships of the so-called "Pan-Libnonco" countries, meaning Panama, Liberia, Honduras, and Costa Rica.

The British use the term Pan-Lib-Lib, the meaning of which is obvious.

One term applied to these registries is "flags of convenience." Another is "flags of necessity."

Vessels under such flags are sometimes referred to as "runaways." No public admission of this discriminatory action has been made by the Soviet government but it has been authoritatively reported in Scandinavia. The motives behind this move are not yet apparent.

The flight of British and American ships to foreign registries has been going on for some years, particularly since the war and at the moment it is very large. Owners who still fly their own flags find this a serious problem.

AMONG BRITISH owners, the flight to foreign registries has been caused by excessive taxation. In this country, construction, operating and labor costs as well as taxation are the major reasons.

Shipowners who take this course are at a great advantage since their savings in taxes and labor costs enable them to expand their fleets by new buildings, since so many of the ships bought cheaply from the government of the United States at the end of the war are getting old and obsolete.

A spirited argument has been under way in Britain over this problem. Last spring in a letter to the London Times, Stavros S. Narchos, a Greek whose wealth and ship ownership is fabulous, defended the practice on several grounds.

He pointed out that, after all, shipping is an international concern. He said that he could "think of no valid reason, certainly one which is founded on principle, for maintaining that a vessel should be of any particular nationality."

Moreover, invoking the principle of "free enterprise," he said there is no reason why a shipowner should not register his ship under the flag of any country he chooses.

These are what might be called "good" reasons as distinguished from "real" reasons. The real reasons, as Narchos spells them out, are that in the big maritime nations, presumably the United States and Britain, taxation and inflation combine to prevent any shipowner or company from accumulating enough money to build the great super-tankers now demanded by the oil trade.

Moreover, the pressure of taxation on profits is such as squeeze that banks cannot afford to lend the necessary money.

IN A REPLY to Narchos Robert D. Ropner, chairman of the General Council of British Shipping, admitted the economic difficulty created by taxation and labor but denied a Narchos claim that, in time of war, these vessels would be available to the countries in which they are owned.

Ropner noted the difficulty encountered by the British, in time of their greatest need during the war, in securing the use of ships flying neutral flags. He also pointed to the considerations of patriotism involved in any assertion that, considering the fact that British shipping has always been the "life-line" of the nation, it does not matter what flag the vessel should fly.

It is a rather startling fact, considering the long pre-eminence of the British merchant marine in past years, that at the present time more British-owned ships are flying the flag of the Negro Republic of Liberia than the Union Jack.

The figures in gross tonnage are 10,625,233 for Liberia, and 9,214,972 for Britain.

Approximately one-half of the "convenience" tanker fleet under these foreign registries is owned or controlled by Americans.

A few months ago, a total of approximately nine million tons of American-owned or controlled ships were registered under foreign flag (By Associated Newspapers)

Labor In Saddle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Unions Were Real Victors In Maine Election

The Democratic party organization didn't win the elections in Maine. The labor union organizations, with plenty of funds to pay precinct workers, really won the victory.

This has been the pattern also in other states where the votes of the city residents outnumber the votes in the rural districts. In fact, the labor union organizations — whose precinct workers are far more numerous than the active personnel of the party organizations — now hold the balance of power in many states throughout the country.

The totals in Maine, when analyzed by districts, show the power of the labor union vote, particularly in the race for governor, which was won by the Democratic nominee, Clinton Clauson, by about 1,000 votes. The cities readily overcame the Republican lead in the country districts.

As for the senatorial contest, the margin of 60,000 received by Edmund S. Muskie, Democrat, against Sen. Frederick G. Payne, Republican, is not a true reflection of the strength of either party.

Mr. Muskie has made a popular governor and, while there was no religious issue whatsoever in the campaign, it was evident two and four years ago in his successful races for the governorship that he had substantial support from Catholic groups which felt justly proud to work for his election.

It is significant that Gov. Muskie did not run as well in the rural areas this time as he did before but he overcame any such defections by reason of the strong labor union activity in the cities.

SEN. PAYNE is supposed to have been weakened by his admission that he accepted gifts from Bernard Goldfine, who operates textile mills in Maine but Gov. Muskie didn't make this an issue. Rather, the gift issue was undoubtedly used as an excuse by those who didn't care to say openly what their real objection to Sen. Payne was.

Unquestionably Mr. Payne lost many conservative votes. He leaned toward the so-called "modern Republican" side and thereby forfeited the enthusiasm of many conservative Republicans who either didn't vote at all or voted for Gov. Muskie.

Hoping to attract labor union votes, the Payne campaign strategists soft-pedaled the union racketeering scandals — something that also disappointed the conservatives.

The split in the Republican party over the senatorship was not apparent in the governorship race, which was decided by a margin of 1,000 votes as compared to 60,000 in the senatorship contest.

The election of Democrats in two of the three congressional districts in Maine was expected.

Here the labor unions, by the work done in the precincts and through the money spent in campaign activity generally for the gubernatorial and senatorial nominees on the Democratic side, tended to help immeasurably the Democratic candidates for Congress, as many voters, once persuaded to favor one candidate, are likely to vote a straight ticket for other candidates of the same party.

The labor unions endorsed all the Democratic party nominees.

Maine's elections have in recent years been the object of concentrated effort by the labor unions and by the Democratic party organization because the final voting has taken place in September.

A victory has been deemed psychologically important in its effect on the rest of the country. This is the last time it will happen, as election day has been changed in Maine to conform in 1960 to the November date of the rest of the country.

MAINE IS NO LONGER the Republican state it was a quarter of a century ago when Franklin Roosevelt won the electoral vote of the country with the exception of Maine and Vermont.

The same industrialization which has taken place in other areas of the United States has changed the voting pattern in Maine.

The influx of city workers, heavily unionized, has been a boon for the Democratic party, whose policies have been deliberately projected to assist the labor union bosses in their pursuit of monopoly and in their endeavor to avoid any governmental interference with their methods.

Today, more than ever when racketeering has been exposed and union dues have been shown to be misused in flagrant instances to carry on campaigns of intimidation and coercion to attain improper objectives, the labor unions have managed by their support at the polls of a substantial number of members of Congress to prevent the passage of remedial legislation.

On the surface, the Maine senatorial race is merely the victory of a popular personality but the gains made, especially in the city vote for the Democratic nominees for governor and for Congress, are examples of how powerful the labor union drive has become.

Workers can be sent to the polls by the thousands to buttonhole voters or to transport them in cars from their homes and a good deal of union pressure can be exerted that is comparable to what used to happen a half century ago when employers intimidated voters and threatened them with dire consequences if they didn't vote Republican.

Today, when job security is within the power of a union to bestow or deny, many voters play ball with the bosses of the unions. That's the real story of the Maine elections.

The New York Herald-Tribune

An Affair With Ellie

By TRUMAN TWILL

Aside from the weather, which was characteristic of this grim summer's persistent rebuke to men's hopes, Labor Day was a satisfactory farewell to outdoor living for another year.

The picnic that was supposed to have been eaten on a sun-kissed knoll was eaten in an automobile, instead. Or it was eaten just outside the automobile in a Newfoundland mist, in a bone-chilling wind.

We went to the races — not the big money-jingling races attended by people with the itch to gamble but one of the little races attended by that off-beat minority of human beings who have qualified themselves as friends of the horse.

My brother is one of these. He works with horses the way some men work at their rose gardens or their golf games. Whatever strain runs through a family that accounts for this particular affinity cropped out positively in him. He has been breeding and training gaited horses and standard - bred racing horses for many years. My Uncle George on my mother's side had it — but never mind.

This particular year his pride and pleasure is a three - year-old mare, Ellie, a beautiful creature as nature ever master-pieced, with all the good instincts of her breed. Ellie is a pacer, meaning she runs on what are known as "lateral pairs" — both feet on the same side touching the ground at the same instant.

A trotter runs in "diagonal pairs," with one front foot and one rear foot touching the ground at the same instant. A galloping horse, incidentally, gets all four feet off the ground simultaneously. Galloping is a horse's most natural gait. Trotting is about half-natural. Pacing is something a horse must be taught. Nearly all pacers must wear a hobble to hold them in their acquired stride.

Ellie finished a close second in both heats of her race, which was on a track unsuitable for any racing at all. It is likely she could have won if strongly urged, but it was the consensus of her entourage that she should not be urged to over-extend herself on a bad track. This, remember, was a contest for horses, not for bettors. As far as I know, the only money on the line anywhere was the stake, amounting to a little more than $1,200.

I fell in love with Ellie. It sounds like a title for a song, but it's the truth. In the box stall, while she was being sponged and dried after the race, I noted the fact her legs were still trembling from the exertion of pacing on that soggy track. She wanted to please her handlers. She was as tractable as she had been in the starting gate, which is a contraption mounted on an automobile that the horses nose into for a flying start. Ellie ran with her nose literally against it; some of the other horses hung back.

Sometimes, my brother drives Ellie, but on the muddy track he gave Ellie to her driver-trainer, who he thought would do a better job. He apparently did pretty well, because the driver-owner whose pacer won both heats said afterward he would rather have Ellie than his own mare, who needed to be urged.

I wouldn't mind owning Ellie, myself, except that the horse-happy strain in our family didn't crop out in me. I'm half afraid of horses, as a matter of fact, though I wouldn't be afraid of Ellie. She's too beautiful.

Ed Fisher Splits With Debbie

Elizabeth Taylor Is Rumored Cause

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher have separated although Debbie says, "I'm still in love with my husband."

They split up Wednesday as Hollywood reverberated to rumors that Elizabeth Taylor was the cause of it all.

But Liz indicated there were some unhappy chapters in Hollywood's storybook marriage.

"I don't feel that I've taken Eddie away from Debbie—because they weren't getting along, anyway," said Miss Taylor.

She slipped into seclusion. Eddie moved in with a friend, comedian Joey Forman. Debbie, after hiding out with friends, returned to the family home.

"I am still in love with my husband," she told newsmen late Wednesday night. "I am deeply shocked over what has happened."

Reporters asked her about Miss Taylor's comment.

"We were never happier than we have been in the last year," said Miss Reynolds. "I've tried to call Miss Taylor several times in the last two days—but I haven't been able to reach her."

Debbie said the separation wasn't her idea.

"Eddie is a great guy," she said. "Don't blame him for what's happened."

Attorneys had this to say of the situation:

"A separation exists between Eddie and Debbie. No further action is being taken at this time."

Eddie and Debbie argued after the singer returned from New York on Tuesday, a week later than expected. During the week Debbie read newspaper accounts of her husband being seen in New York with the beautiful widow of showman Mike Todd.

Todd, was a close friend of Fisher's. When he was killed in a New Mexico plane crash in April, Debbie cared for Liz' children, while Eddie flew with Miss Taylor to the funeral in Illinois.

Eddie and Debbie, idols of the teen-age set, were wed in October 1955. Their first child, a girl, Carrie Frances, was born Oct. 24, 1956. A son, named Todd after their friend, was born last February.

Wednesday night, as newsmen waited for a statement on the couple's marital status, a messenger arrived at the home with a revised script for the picture Debbie starts work on Sept. 29. The title: "The Mating Game."

TUMMYACHE? — Keith Allen Brock's troubles could be gastronomic, judging from the way he's holding his tummy. Perhaps a diaper pin is jabbing him. Or maybe the summer's heat is bothering him. Anyway, at five months, he isn't talking. He's from Plant City, Fla.

Ohio Jobless Rolls Show Sharp Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The number of Ohioans collecting unemployment benefits took an abrupt drop of 12,517 last week, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) reported today.

All of the drop was registered among those collecting regular benefits, from 136,507 the previous week to 123,990 in the week ended last Saturday. During the week, 4,467 claimants exhausted their 26-week period of regular benefits.

But, during the week, there was an increase of only 602 in the number collecting special benefits under the temporary program adopted by the Legislature. The total on the special rolls last week was 61,715.

The combined total of those collecting benefits—both regular and special—stood last Saturday at 185,693 compared with 197,610 at the end of the previous week.

Several sizable drops in those receiving regular benefits were recorded in major employment areas: Cleveland, nearly 5,000; Akron, nearly 1,000; Canton, more than 600; Dayton, nearly 1,500.

New claims last week for regular benefits numbered 14,287, an increase of 1,000 above the previous week, but still at least 2,500 below the weekly average of the last month.

New Right-to-Work Committee Is Formed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of a proposal to ban the union shop in Ohio formed a new committee today.

The Committee to Defeat State Issue No. 2 obtained a non-profit corporation charter from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Announced purpose of the committee is work for the defeat in the Nov. 4 election of a proposal to insert the anti-union shop ban in the state constitution.

Trustees of the new committee are Philip R. Bradley, an attorney; Henry E. Worley, a real estate man, and Dr. John Heffelfinger, all of Columbus.

A committee to work for approval of the amendment was incorporated Tuesday by a group headed by Rep. Elton Kile, (R-Madison), a sponsor of Ohioans for Right to Work, Inc. that placed the proposal on election ballots.

Top Court's Decision to Affect Southerner's Lives, Customs

By The Associated Press

The U.S. Supreme Court convenes in a momentous special session today to decide the speed of integration at Little Rock, Ark., Central High School.

The decision may affect the lives and customs of millions of Southerners for it is expected to spell out the Supreme Court's mandate calling for desegregation in the nation's public schools with "all deliberate speed."

The question is whether the court will allow more time or whether it will call for action now.

The Little Rock School Board contends resumption of integration at this time would mean a return to "bedlam, turmoil and chaos" and the destruction of the school system. Integration at Central High last year brought on violence, riots and the use of troops.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People says that threats and even open public resistance are not valid reasons for denying Negro pupils a constitutional right to attend mixed schools.

Only one demonstration occurred in the South Wednesday. Police and sheriff's deputies escorted three Negro children through a blockade set up by 10 women at the Pride Avenue Elementary School at Madisonville, Ky., then arrested two white men and two Negro men.

Several U.S. deputy marshals were across the street at the time as observers. Justice Department officials in Washington said they believed this was the first use of deputy marshals in connection with school integration.

In the North, about 60 white and Negro mothers marched on the city hall at Buffalo, N.Y., and asked the Board of Education to suspend classes in Buffalo schools for one day in sympathy with mothers in Little Rock fighting for school integration.

The mothers were members of an organization called "Mothers Alliance to Stop School Segregation."

The board said it would consider their request.

In New Orleans, five additional Negro students registered as freshmen at Louisiana State University, bringing to seven the number of Negroes now enrolled. A federal district court ordered their registration.

At Nashville, Tenn., the State Board of Education gave Memphis State University permission to delay admission of Negroes until next year.

An NAACP attorney at Van Buren, Ark., asked a federal court to order the Van Buren school board to carry out its gradual integration plan at the high school. A boycott by white pupils kept 13 Negroes away from classes at the school Friday.

hour with Dulles and a half hour with Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary for Far East affairs, Casey pronounced himself possessed of "much more understanding."

His statement seemed to bear out Dulles' news conference comment that in time more and more allies and even more neutrals would come to appreciate U.S. Far East policy.

That policy includes support of Nationalist China, tolerance of a Nationalist military buildup on the islands within sight of the Red-held mainland, and threatening to meet force with force if the Communists seemed about to wrest the islands from the Nationalists.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Don't Try to Fool the Doctor

Trying to fool the doctor is a game in which, fortunately, few people indulge. But once in a while a patient tries to do so, by withholding important information about his present illness or past history.

This is pretty silly because the doctor needs to know everything he can if he is to provide maximum help.

THE FIRST STEP which a doctor makes in seeking a diagnosis for an illness is to obtain a complete history. This includes not only the development of the immediate illness, but also information on past illnesses, family history and other circumstances which might have a bearing on diagnosis and treatment.

When properly given and recorded, the history alone often gives a clue as to what further steps are necessary.

The taking of a history is followed by the physical examination. This is generally divided into four categories: What the physician can see; what he can feel; what information he can obtain by percussion, or thumping; and what he can learn by hearing.

The latter is usually carried out through the familiar instrument called the stethoscope. Physicians are carefully trained in all these methods of physical examination. There are also available to the modern physician a wide range of special tests, some new and some old.

One of the oldest and simplest is the measurement of the body temperature taken by a clinical thermometer. Another is the instrument which is used to measure the blood pressure. Among other common tests taken when a patient is examined are those on the blood and urine.

SOME OF THESE are done on virtually every patient, but some are complicated chemical tests which are performed only when the other signs point toward the need for doing so.

I can mention only a few other special tests which are now available. The use of X-rays is widespread and, of course, is invaluable in many instances. But it is not a substitute for careful history taking nor physical examination.

There are instruments, too, for measuring the basal metabolism (particularly important in toxic goiter and other disorders of the thyroid gland and for studying the heart, particularly the electrocardiograph. For studying the brain waves there is an instrument known as the electroencephalograph.

Many of these new methods of testing the human body, while extremely valuable, are by no means a substitute for careful physical examination. This alone may be sufficient on which to make a diagnosis, or at least to furnish clues as to which of the other tests are needed.

It is virtually impossible (and not necessary to apply every available test to every patient. So I emphasize again the importance of the history and the desirability that every patient tell the doctor all he can about himself and his illness.

Quakers To Be Outweighed 9 Pounds Per Man Friday

Injuries Force Bruce To Reshuffle Lineup

By GORDON ARNDT

The Salem football Quakers will be outweighed almost nine pounds per man Friday night when they open their 1958 football season with Cleveland John Marshall at Reilly Stadium.

The kickoff is slated for 8 p.m. The Quakers will average 190 pounds per man on the line and 171 in the backfield while the Cleveland John Marshall will average 179 on the line and 165 in the backfield.

Salem mentor Earle Bruce said that three of four starting positions are not quite settled yet because of injuries.

They are left guard, right guard and fullback. Two men have been nominated for the starting role at quarterback.

Ned Chappell, who was to start at left tackle, is out with a swollen arm while Ken Garlock, who was named along with Bob Lambert to begin at left guard, is nursing an infected right arm. Lou Slaby, the regular fullback, is hampered somewhat with a bad ankle but is expected to start Friday. His subs are Powell Schmauch and Jim Pledge.

Bruce said Kent Malloy or Ben Jones would begin at quarterback. Marshall, who compiled a 3-6 record in 1957, is coached by Bill Moritz. He is in his first year as head coach following three years as tutor of the sophomore squad. This is his 13th season as a coach.

Four of Marshall's losses last year were either by one point or one touchdown.

The Quakers will be clad in red jerseys while Salem will be sporting their new white jerseys for the first time.

Starting lineups are as follows:

Marshall
 It Dave Jones 185
 It Ken Boros 197
 It Jim Holley 185
 c Ron Chuska 182
 rg Bruce Grasser 187
 rt Dick Dancull 202
 re Roger Denneral 197
 qb Bill Hoge 181
 lb Bob Marcis 176
 rb Cliff Schmidt 156
 fb Harry Santhre 170

Salem
 It Dave Metcalf 170
 It Joe Julian 180
 lg Ken Garlock 170
 or Bob Lambert 191
 c Clyde Marks 181
 rg Buddy Rottenborn 198
 or Ray Esterly 165
 rt George Daily 199
 re Bill Hone 156
 qb Kent Malloy 145
 or Ben Jones 168
 lb Ralph Ehrhart 160
 rh Fred Phillips 156
 rb Lou Slaby 200

Moritz did not single out any one man as being the sparkplug of his attack. He quipped that he possessed a balanced offensive with everyone contributing the same.

Marshall and Salem have not played each other since 1948 when the Quakers won 14-0. The locals only other tilt with the Clevelanders was in 1947 when the score was 14-0 for Salem.

Each coaching staff scouted their opponent last weekend in preview encounters but neither learned much.

Head managers this season for Salem will be Jim Potts and Rusty Roth. Their assistants are Ron "Zorro" Shoup and Richard Dick.

John Catlos will be head trainer. His colleague will be Jack Patterson.

The halftime ceremony Friday night should prove a colorful one. Salem's football queen will be crowned and marching movements will be performed by both the Salem band and the Marshall musicians.

Miss Martha Ann Dougherty, football queen in 1957, will crown one of the following seven girls: Judy DeCrow, Bonnie Getz, Gail Parker, Judy Safred, Barbara Schuster, Carol Ward and Betsy Young.

Fred E. Cope, athletic director, said tickets are now on sale at Fishers and Heddestons. Reserved seats are $1.25 while season tickets for seven home tilts are $8. Students may buy tickets for 35 cents at their schools. At the gate they'll be assessed 50 cents.

Salem will be away Sept. 19 and Sept. 26. After the Marshall game, Salem won't return home till Oct. 3. They'll finish the season at Reilly with six straight home encounters.

Jersey Numbers
 Salem will wear their white jerseys this Friday night in the game with Cleveland John Marshall. However, the squad still has red jerseys which will be seen as the season progresses.

Listed below are the numbers of each player for both jerseys.

Friend Posts 20th Victory; Pizarro Blanks Cincinnati 3-0

By The Associated Press
 The milestones of success have come hard for Bob Friend. But now he's passed another, finally becoming a 20-game winner with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In 1955, the big right-hander from Indiana led the National League with a 2.84 earned run average. That came hard. No other major league pitcher ever has won an ERA title with a last place club.

In 1956, Friend made the All-Star team for the first time. He started, and won. That came hard. Twenty-four hours earlier there was doubt that he'd even make the game, because of a sore throat.

Wednesday night, he became the first to win 20 in the NL this year. Friend, 27, had to go 10 innings to get it, beating San Francisco 6-4 on Dick Stuart's two-out, two-run homer. The Giants tagged him for a dozen hits and three walks.

But Friend, with his mates getting only three hits over the last eight innings, left 11 on base and blanked the Giants on four singles over the last five frames.

Friend hadn't won more than 17 in one season before with the Pirates—but they had finished last or next to last throughout that seven-year span.

The Bucs, who haven't been this high since 1944, now hold second place by 5 1/2 games over the Giants with the three-game sweep. But the Milwaukee Braves 6 1/2 games ahead, kept rolling toward a second straight pennant by beating Cincinnati 3-0 on Juan Pizarro's three-hitter.

St. Louis tied Cincinnati for fourth, beating the Chicago Cubs 3-1. Philadelphia knocked off Los Angeles 8-6.

Friend had a 4-1 lead after two innings. But it slipped away on Daryl Spencer's two-run homer in the third and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Stuart's shot, his 15th, followed a two-out single by Roberto Clemente off loser Marv Grissom (7-5). Ray Manzant, lifted for a hitter in the 10th, had blanked the Bucs on one hit for 7-13 innings—an eighth-inning single by Clemente.

Tiger Jones Puts Crawford On Canvas

CHICAGO (AP) — Art student Mickey Crawford, fourth ranking welterweight contender, got himself put on canvas Wednesday night — but it wasn't a self portrait.

Tiger Jones, that old villain of televised fights who has spoiled many a youngster's hopes, decked Crawford twice with rights and the fight was stopped in 1:04 of the 10th round.

Crawford, 24, was six pounds overweight at 154. Apparently this excess baggage made him sluggish. Jones pumped shots at him nearly at will, chasing him around the ring in every round in what undoubtedly was the most road work the 30-year-old veteran has had for some time.

Crawford, raised in Saginaw, Mich., where his father, flyweight Patsy Crawford, operated a gym, invited right hand punches by keeping his left low. Jones obliged in rolling up these margins under the five-point system through the first nine rounds before winning by a technical knockout: Judge Lou Capparelli 45-36, Judge Jim McManus 44 - 38, Referee Joe White 43-39. The AP 45-39.

Jones weighed 155 1/2 and collected his 12th knockout in winning 45 out of 73 starts. The defeat was Crawford's fourth in 27 bouts.

The Phils, taking their 11-game home season series from the Dodgers for the first time since 1934, scored seven runs, three unearned, in three innings against loser Don Drysdale (11-13). Robin Roberts (15-13) won it with Don Erickson's ninth-inning relief. Carl Furillo and Frank Howard in his major league debut, homered for the Dodgers.

50,021 Fans Watch New York Clobber Cleveland 8-3

Yankee Rookie Picks Up Win

Elston Howard Leads Bomber's Big Bats

CLEVELAND (AP) — Beaten soundly in their final 1958 meeting with the New York Yankees, the Cleveland Indians could consider themselves lucky today that it wasn't worse.

Without some help from the Yankees, the Tribe might have been whitewashed before the largest crowd to watch them play here in three seasons—and by a rookie pitcher, at that.

As it was the Indians lost 8-3 to make their season record against the league leaders seven won and 15 lost, compared with a 13-9 mark last season. And the rookie pitcher, Zack Monroe, was yanked in the seventh inning, even though he did get credit for the victory.

The attendance of 50,021 sent the Tribe's home gate to 620,786 with eight playing dates here remaining. The total gate will probably end up between 650,000 and 670,000.

While the Yankees battered five Indians pitchers for a dozen hits, Cleveland collected seven scattered singles, scored two runs only because of bomber errors and made the last one on a hit batsman and three straight walks.

Elston Howard, who got three of the visitors' hits, singled home Gil McDougald, who doubled, in the first inning, and Mickey Mantle, who walked in the third inning and stole second. Those runs were off starter and loser Don Mossi, now 7-8.

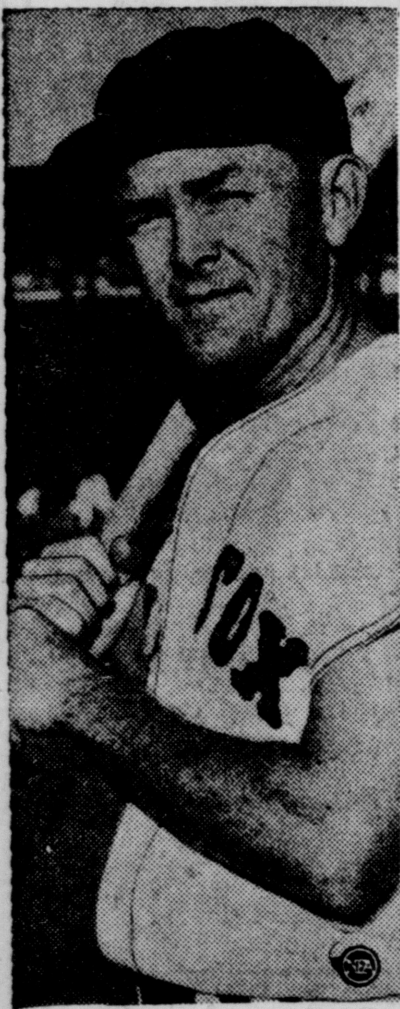

A double by Tony Kubek in the sixth after a walk and single by Norm Siebern was good for two more Yankees runs. And Bobby Richardson singled Kubek home. This rally, against Ray Narleski, made the score 5-1.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant hurled a hitless seventh frame, then Herb Score filled the bases by walking two batters after Kubek's infield single. With a 3-0 count on relief pitcher Ryan Duren, Morrie Martin came in for Score, passed Duren to force a run home and was nicked for a two-run double by Hank Bauer.

Rocky Colavito scored the first Indian run after walking, advancing on Russ Nixon's single and scoring when Richardson threw wild on Woody Held's single. A double steal in which Nixon was tagged out at the plate squelched this fifth-inning rally.

Kubek's fumble, following Minnie Minoso's infield single and a walk in the seventh, allowed another Tribe marker. And Duren's control lapse in the eighth provided the last on the hit batsmen and three walks.

Cultured pearls take about seven years to develop.

Spider Webb To Meet Gene Fullmer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Spider Webb of Chicago and ex-champion Gene Fullmer match wits and fists in a 10-round midweight bout here tonight (9 p.m. MST).

Both expected to weigh slightly less than the 160-pound limit.

Fullmer, who held the middleweight title briefly in 1957, was rated only an even match for the heavier — punching Webb, twice NCAA champion at Idaho State College.

Fullmer is the number two midweight contender. The fight against Webb marks his first big-time competition since he lost the title to Sugar Ray Robinson more than 18 months ago.

Webb is rated fourth by Ring magazine and seventh by the National Boxing Assn.

Webb, 29-3 in his career, won four this year and was upset by Holly Mims.

On Friday also, East Palestine hosts St. Clairsville, Leetonia greets North Lima, Canton Glenwood is at Louisville, Sandy Valley is at Minerva and Sebring plays host to Newton Falls.

On Saturday evening, Goshen Union will play Lisbon at Sebring.

Massillon, Warren Begin '58 Grid Campaigns Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 27,000 helmeted and cleated kids start battling this weekend for Ohio's 1958 high school football championship.

Strung along the far-flung front are 605 teams paying the 11-man game, and 43 others featuring six man football. A year ago 27,098 boys were on the gridiron rosters, and the figure is up this season due to newly-consolidated schools taking up the game.

H. W. Emswiler, who retires Nov. 1 as state high school athletic commissioner, is unperturbed by the opening blast. He's fished in Canada.

But W. J. McConnell, assistant commissioner who takes over as "Emmy" departs, declared:

"This looks like a very interesting season. Coaching changes, especially among the stronger schools, have been numerous. The new point after touchdown rule is certain to add many new thrills. The new blocking rule could bring up some interesting situations. There will be new faces, new stars. This could be one of our greatest years."

McConnell said his office is flooded with eligibility questions, and that "everyone wants an answer by Friday."

"The questions center around transfer students, age limits, work taken during the summer by those on the scholastic edge, and many other things," McConnell said, "but we'll have 'em ironed out by kickoff time Friday night."

Cleveland Benedictine, the 1957 state champion and first team outside Stark County to take the title in 10 campaigns, opens against Cleveland St. Edward.

Canton McKinley, king the previous two years, has a new coach at the helm in Jimmy Robinson, as the Bulldogs entertain Akron Buchtel. Robinson transferred from Canton Lehman as Wade Watts resigned.

Massillon, holder of the crown for seven straight seasons prior to McKinley's reign, also has a new mentor in Leo Strans, last year at East Cleveland Shaw. The Massillon, second to Benedictine in last season's Associated Press poll, have Akron South as their opening foe.

Warren, beaten only by Massillon last year in a game featured by a faulty clock, could be in for its finest year under Gene Slaughter, the 1957 coach of the year. Gene's Panthers are hosts to Cleveland Collinwood in the Friday inaugural.

Among the other top-flight opening contests this weekend are: Akron Central at Alliance, Columbus Central at Steubenville, Akron Kenmore at Barberton, Youngstown Chaney at Youngstown Rayen, Youngstown East at South, Toledo DeVilbiss at Toledo Central Catholic, Youngstown Ursuline at North, Cleveland John Marshall at Salem, Akron St. Vincent at East Liverpool, Cleveland East at Mansfield, Dover at Wooster, Columbus West at Springfield, Cleveland West at Zanesville, Cincinnati Taft at Hamilton, Cincinnati Purcell at Fremont Ross, Middletown at Dayton Fairmont, Lorain at Toledo Libbey, Van Wert at Bryan, Beilaire at Marietta, Columbus East at Newark, Lima at Columbus North, and Lexington (Ky.) Dunbar at Portsmouth.

Deane Beman, Maryland junior who said he hadn't heard of Johnny Dawson before this tournament drew the 55-year-old former runner-up as his opponent. UCLA's Dick Foote faced Don Bisplinghoff of Miami Beach.

Chuck Kocis, the Michigan veteran who went to the final in 1956, tried his game against Clyde Osokin, Bethlehem, Pa. Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor, the 41-year-old Pomona, Calif., dentist who lost in last year's final, tangled with the only foreign entry left, Canada's Eric Hanson.

In the other match, Claude Wild, twice winner of the Maryland state title, teed off against Cincinnati's Roger McManus.

Defending champion Robbins left the scene via a 4 and 2 defeat by fat, 43-year-old Marty Stanovich of Niles, Ill., who was beaten by Osokin in the next round.

Ward whipped Charlie Leider, San Mateo, and Jerry Pittman, Tulsa Wednesday.

James Pitches Second No-Hitter; Tourney Field Down To 12 Teams

In last night's softball tourney action, Hubbard Ressler's Plasters ousted the New Brighton, Pa. AC 1-0 in nine innings as Ray James tossed his second no-hitter of the tourney. James had a no-hit, five-inning stint against Salem Old Dutch Beer in earlier action.

James pitched perfect ball until the 7th frame when he hit the leadoff batter. An error and another hit batsman were the only men to reach base. No one reached second in the nine inning affair.

Ressler won in the ninth on successive hits by Don Parm and Earl Simpson.

Jess Bailey gave up five hits in defeat. James had 15 whiffs.

NILES' Alberinis' big bats boomed for a triple and two homers in the fourth inning to dump Canton Lattavo Bros. 3-1. Home runs by Dom Pompelia and Joe Sabino followed Ben Costanza's triple in the big inning.

George Johnson gained the win while Wayne Nelson tasted the defeat.

Canton Freedom for Congress had no trouble in blasting Massillon Superior Meats 9-0. Chuck Hatfield and Rafus combined for the win. Nolan took the loss.

Lincoln Machine of Salem won the city Class A playoffs by topping Salem Drive-In 6-3, for the second straight time in their best of three playoffs. Frank Lanney paced the winners with a fine pitching stint.

It was the Tribe's largest night game draw since 1954, the last year they won the American League pennant. But the Indians came through with the same sort of play that has kept the folks away ever since, losing 8-3 to the New York Yankees. Two of their runs were unearned, and the third was hustled home on three walks and a hit batsman.

The Chicago White Sox, with nothing else to shoot for, padded their second place edge over Boston to 2½ games by beating the Red Sox 7-2. Washington knocked off Detroit 5-2 and Kansas City defeated Baltimore 4-2.

The Indians had seven hits, all singles off Rookie Zack Monroe (4-1), who was relieved by Ryne Duren and Art Ditmar. Elston Howard, Tony Kubek and Hank Bauer each drove in two runs for the Yankees as Don Mossi lost his eighth in 15 decisions.

Southpaw Billy Pierce allowed eight hits and won his 16th for the White Sox, his 150th victory in the majors. He also counted his 1,500th career strikeout, fanning leadoff man Don Buddin. The White Sox broke a 2-all tie with five runs in the eighth off reliever Murray Wall (7-9) with Al Smith hitting a two-run single and Pierce doubling two home.

Clint Courtney drove in four runs for the Senators, who were shut out on one hit by Paul Foy (12-12) for five innings. Courtney's two-run double capped a three-run sixth, and his seventh homer was good for a clinching two runs in the eighth. Charlie Maxwell hit his third career grand slam homer in the third for the Tigers, who then were blanked by Russ Kemmerer and winning reliever Tex Clevenger (9-8).

That "Back-the-Indians" drive paid off with a crowd of 50,021 and a touch of irony at Cleveland Wednesday night.

Passing Attack Sharp In Bucks Scrimmage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State passing attack drew praise Wednesday from Coach Woody Hayes. But the Buckeyes' defenses were called "mediocre."

Hayes, who has said the Bucks will take to the air more this year, saw quarterbacks Frank Kremblas of Akron and Jerry Fields of Coal Grove hurl five touchdown passes during the long scrimmage.

Fields, the No. 2 quarterback, put on a near perfect passing exhibition completing his first five passes. Tom Morgan of Hamilton hauled in three of the tosses—two good for touchdowns. Rusty Bowermaster, another Hamilton end, grabbed another Fields pass to score.

The defense took a beating both from the passers and the bevy of backs who ripped through the line for numerous touchdowns.

The Buckeyes' injury bench now has 14 members, including three tackles, Jim Marshall and Birthe Arnold, both of Columbus, and Al Crawford of Canton.

Of the injuries Hayes said: "You have to expect it. Fortunately we've had no bad ones so far, and we're thankful of that."

Women Will Like This Type Sandwich

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE

Certain dishes appeal to what Americans call the "girls," be they 15 or 50. And entertain the girls we all do—whether they come to a committee meeting, a shower for the bride or expectant mother, or a going-away party for a friend who's taken to travel.

One offering you can count on as food-bait for women: a sandwich loaf to be served at a buffet lunch or afternoon tea. Use savory fillings and decorate it imaginatively and it may make friends and influence cooks.

You might like to welcome your guests with a basil-flavored consomme and crisp crackers. The herb does wonders for the soup! For every five half-cupful servings, use one can (10½ ounces) of condensed consomme and one soup can full of water. Knife-shred three large fresh basil leaves, add to the soup, and simmer for 10 minutes or until there is a pronounced herb flavor. Strain the consomme and, if you like, add a tablespoon or two of dry sherry. Serve in small pretty cups.

Dessert on this menu can be a combination of fresh fruit and thin crisp cookies.

Party Luncheon Loaf

Ingredients: 1 loaf unsliced white bread, butter, pimiento-nut filling, curried egg filling, stuffed olives, deviled ham filling, 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese.

Method: Trim crusts from bread slice loaf lengthwise into 4 layers. Spread each layer with softened butter. Spread bottom layer with pimiento-nut filling; top with second bread layer and spread with egg filling. Arrange row of stuffed olives down center of this layer; place next layer on top and spread with ham filling. Top with remaining bread layer, buttered - side down. Wrap loaf firmly in aluminum foil or waxed paper. Chill. Unwrap and "frost" with cream cheese, moistened with milk or mayonnaise; chill until serving time. Use canned mushroom slices, crisp greens, cucumber wheels or other garnishes to make loaf pretty.

Pimiento-Nut Filling

Mix 1-3 cup chopped nuts (almonds or pecans or walnuts) and 2 diced pimientos with one 3-ounce package of softened cream cheese. Add 2 tablespoons mayonnaise and salt and pepper to taste.

Curried Egg Filling

Chop 4 hard-cooked eggs and add mayonnaise to moisten. Season with ½ teaspoon each salt and curry powder and a dash of pepper.

Deviled Ham Filling

Blend one 4½ ounce can deviled ham with a little mayonnaise; season with prepared mustard and dash of pepper.

Household Hints

A new way to serve franks and it is so easy too. A sauce highlighting chopped dill, vinegar, seasonings, brown sugar and chopped pimiento is served over cooked frankfurters.

When planning your dinner menu this summer do not overlook the great variety of sausage products your meat retailer has on display. It will open up a whole new field of possibilities when deciding on the main course.

For ease in carving, have the backbone loosened on beef rib and pork loin roasts before cooking.

With the amount of outdoor cooking being done, it is best to keep in mind that meat should never be cooked over flames. Allow the coals to be just glowing or covered with a gray ash.

Plums Make Heavenly Pie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Angel pie has been going steady with lemon, chocolate and coffee fillings for some time. Now it teams up with fresh purple plums.

This Angel Pie has a bottom layer of crisp meringue, its center is a soft concoction of fruit and whipped cream. If you freeze some of this season's purple plums, you can make this dessert even at Christmas.

Fresh Purple Plum Angel Pie

Ingredients: 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 2.3 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon powdered cloves, 2 fresh purple plums (pitted and quartered), 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup heavy cream, 2 tablespoons superfine granulated sugar.

1 teaspoon vanilla, Meringue Shell.

Method: Sprinkle gelatin over ¼ cup of the cold water to soften. In a medium-sized saucepan, mix the remaining ¼ cup cold water, sugar, cinnamon, cloves and plums; cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until plums are soft; measure and add enough boiling water to make 1 cups. At once stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Stir in lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened.

Whip ½ cup of the cream and beat in 1 tablespoon of the superfine sugar and ½ teaspoon of the vanilla; spread over the bottom of the meringue shell. Cover with slightly thickened plum mixture. Chill until filling thickens some more. This is a soft filling; do not expect it to cut clean. Just before serving, whip the remaining cream, beating in remaining superfine sugar and vanilla as garnish for pie top. Note: If shell is filled and stored for more than 3 to 5 hours, the bottom will become soggy.

Meringue Shell

Ingredients: 3 egg whites, 1 cup superfine granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Have whites at room temperature; beat to a coarse foam. Add vinegar, salt and vanilla. Beat in sugar thoroughly, ¼ tablespoon at a time; continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Spread in pan even layer 1-inch thick over bottom and sides of a well buttered 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a very slow (275 degrees) oven about 1 hour and 15 minutes — until light tan and crisp. Cool slowly in pie plate placed in wire rack away from drafts. It's the nature of a large meringue shell, made in a pie plate, to crack in a few places!

Spread a slice of bread (after cutting off the crust) with cream-style cottage cheese; cut in two triangles and sandwich together. Spread outside of sandwich with soft butter or margarine and toast in a hot oven for about five minutes. Serve with strawberry jam and tea.

Pear Honey Is Favorite

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Prettiest sight of all at a country fair, to many of us, has always been the rows of clean and shining jars of fruit preserves. The gold of pears and peaches, the tempting reds of cherries, the blush of crab-apples — all on parade! Enough to make you proud, if you have an old-fashioned fruit cellar, of your own array; or to spur you on to put up some jars of this season's still-available fresh fruit.

Do you have memories of fruit and sugar and spice simmering together and issuing heavenly aromas from the kitchen? Of treasured jars of fruit preserves your mother brought out for company? Or that she opened as a reward because you were "good" — when you might have been can'tankerous! — on a rainy day?

Can you still taste the honest flavor of the fruit spread on a heel of freshly-baked bread or a slice of richly buttered toast? A pleasurable experience at any age! Or have you always "kept your hand in" the American art of preserving and are you on the lookout for old-time recipes brought up to date?

Either way, we urge you to try this recipe for that glory of bygone days — pear honey. All through the fall, Bartlett pears show themselves on fruit stalls. Snatch them up and enprison them in the sweet.

Putting up preserves, if you have more time than money, is thrifty. Your results should compare in quality with the best commercially made conserves and jams and jellies — the sort that sell in fine food shops and cost at least 75 cents for a jar holding three-quarters of a cup. The preserves you make at home will not cost anywhere near that.

Nowadays fruit preserves are made in small quantities rather than in the vast amounts of our grandmothers. No need to have the tremendous preserving kettles that years ago were part of almost every American home. We have discovered that small batches bring fresh flavor, pleasing texture, attractive color.

Pear honey is a syrupy jam with a wonderfully fresh flavor, a relative of that other old-fashioned sweet called pear chips. Both use pears, sugar and lemon as a base but slivers of preserved ginger were often added to the chips. To give extra flavor and pale golden color, we add grated orange juice and rind to our Pear Honey.

Pear Honey

Ingredients: 4 cups chopped pears, ¼ cup orange juice, 3 cups sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon of grated orange rind.

Method: Use firm-ripe Bartlett pears; pare, core and knife-chop into ¼- to ½-inch pieces; measure 4 cups, packing down. Put pears and orange juice in a medium-sized kettle; boil gently for 5 minutes. Add sugar, salt and lemon juice; boil rapidly until pears have a transparent look — about 20 minutes; the syrup will be no thicker than warm honey. Skim off foam. Stir in grated orange rind.

Pour boiling hot into half-pint jars; seal at once with regular home canning caps. Makes 3 to 4 one-half pint jars. Store in a cool dry place.

Buttermilk-Veal

4 veal shoulder steaks, cut ¼ inch thick, 3 tablespoons lard, 1½ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 cup buttermilk, flour.

Brown meat on both sides in lard or drippings. Season with paprika and salt. Spread with prepared mustard. Add buttermilk, cover tightly and cook slowly for 1 hour or until tender.

Remove meat, thicken liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Creole Chops

6 shoulder lamb chops, cut 1 inch thick, 1 tablespoon lard, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup tomato juice, ¼ cup chopped green pepper, 2 small onions.

Brown chops in melted lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Add remaining ingredients. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes or until tender. Yield: 6 servings.

Try Cheeseburger Loaf

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Market Editor
A different meat loaf recipe — that's good kitchen news, wouldn't you say? Ground beef is mixed with cubes of cheese and pimento-stuffed olives and seasoned with monosodium glutamate. This ½ cup evaporated milk, 1 egg,

"cheeseburger" loaf keeps well. Cheese Dotted Beef Loaf (Yield: 6 servings)
One and one-half pounds ground beef, 1½ teaspoons monosodium glutamate, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon thyme, monosodium glutamate. This ½ cup evaporated milk, 1 egg, 1½ cups soft bread crumbs, ¼ cup coarsely chopped pimento-stuffed olives, ¼ cup finely chopped onion, ½ cup cubed cheddar cheese. Sprinkle beef with monosodium glutamate, salt, pepper and thyme. Toss gently with fork to distribute seasonings. Combine evaporated milk and egg in mixing bowl; stir in bread crumbs. Add ground beef mixture and remaining ingredients. Mix lightly with a fork until blended. Form into loaf in 9x5x3 inch baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Here's a gay dessert to go with the "cheeseburger" meal:

Cherry Tarts (Yield: 6 servings)
One can (1 pound) red tart pitted cherries (packed in water), ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, red food coloring, 6 baked tart shells, vanilla ice cream.

Drain cherries; measure liquid; add water to make 1 cup. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; gradually stir in cherry liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; add lemon juice. If desired, add few drops red food coloring. When ready to serve, fill tart shells with vanilla ice cream; top with cherry sauce.

Oatmeal Muffins

Ingredients: 1 cup sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1 cup quick-cooking or regular-style rolled oats, ½ cup raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained), 1 egg, ¾ cup milk, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted).

Method: Sift together on a piece of paper the flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, and nutmeg. Add the brown sugar, rolled oats and raisins. In a medium-sized mixing bowl, with a rotary beater (hand or electric), beat egg until thick and pale-colored; add milk and beat enough to combine. Add flour mixture and melted butter. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill buttered muffin cups two-thirds full. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve hot. Makes 10 to 12 muffins if pans whose wells each hold 1-3 to ½ cups are used.

For Pineapple-Date Muffins: Omit cinnamon and nutmeg; substitute ½ cup chopped pitted dates for raisins and add ½ cup well-drained crushed pineapple.

Beef-Lima Soup

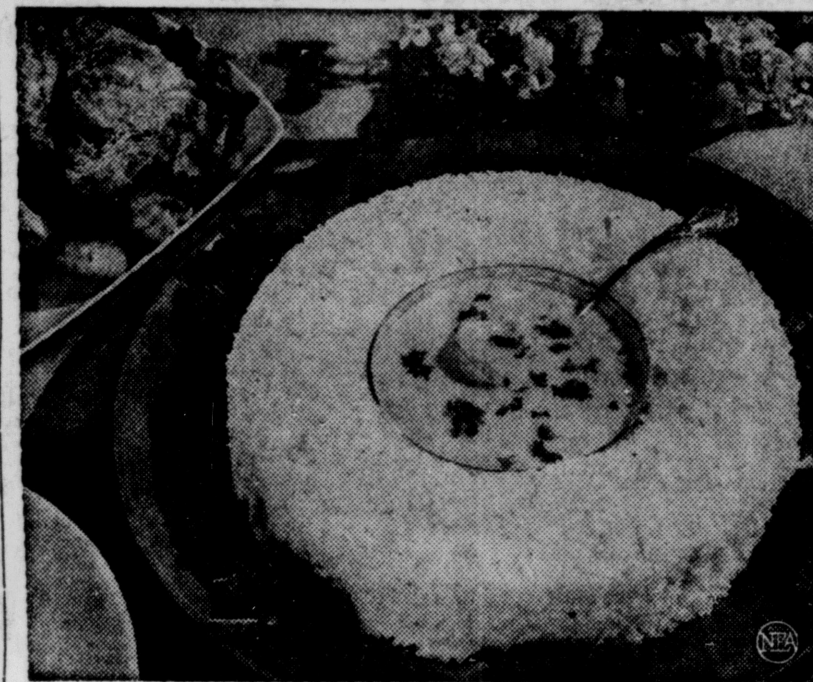

1 pound ground beef, 1 large onion, sliced, 1 tablespoon lard or drippings, ¼ teaspoon leaf oregano, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 can (10½ ounces) consommé, 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes, 1 can (16 ounces) green lima beans.

Cook ground beef and onion in lard or drippings until lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Add oregano, salt, pepper, consommé and tomatoes.

Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add lima beans and continue simmering uncovered 15 minutes. Yield: 7 cups soup.

Country-Style Chicken

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Now that vacations are over and daily menus go home style, it's time to look for new recipes for family appetites. Here's a combination — call it country style with a modern work-saving twist. It's real good eating.

Cocoa Brownies

½ cup sifted enriched flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup cocoa, 1-3 cup lard, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 cup chopped nuts.

Grease a 9-inch square baking pan. Sift together flour, salt and cocoa. Cream together lard and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually add sifted dry ingredients.

Stir in vanilla and nuts. Pour into baking pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 to 30 minutes. Cut into squares. Yield: 16 squares (2½ x 2½ inches).

Mexican Franks

1 pound frankfurters, ¾ cup of cracker crumbs, 1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn, 2 tablespoons pickle relish, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup, 2 tablespoons water, ¼ teaspoon leaf oregano, 1 tablespoon minced parsley. Split frankfurters lengthwise, being careful not to cut completely through. Arrange them cut side up in an 8x12-inch baking dish. Combine crumbs, corn, pickle relish and onion. Place corn mixture evenly over frankfurters.

Combine soup, water and oregano. Pour over mixture and the franks. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Sausage Kabobs

8 smoked sausage links, 2 small tomatoes, quartered, 16 pitted ripe olives, French dressing.

Cut smoked sausage links diagonally into thirds. On each of eight 6-inch skewers thread 3 sausage pieces, 1 tomato wedge and 2 olives. Place kabobs on broiler rack and brush with French dressing.

Broil 3 inches from the heat until browned, 3 to 5 minutes. Turn and brush with French dressing and broil second side until browned, about 2 minutes. Yield: 8 kabobs.

cream of mushroom soup, 2-3 cup water, 1 1-3 cup (4½-ounce box) packaged precooked rice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 1-3 cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons butter.

Separate pieces of chicken, dry between towels, and roll in seasoned flour. Saute in fat until brown on all sides. Remove chicken from skillet. Combine soup and 2-3 cup water with drippings in skillet, blending well. Return chicken to skillet, cover, and simmer 30 to 45 minutes, or until tender. Add packaged precooked rice and salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice.

Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 5 minutes. Add butter and mix slightly with a fork. Pack into well-greased 7-inch ring mold and let stand a few minutes. Then turn out onto hot serving plate. Place gravy in small bowl. Set in center of rice ring. Garnish with parsley and watercress, if desired.

Yellow vegetables, which should be included in the daily diet, are high in vitamin A.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (21)—The Lunar Colony

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) A permanent colony on the Moon offers advantages similar to that of a space station orbiting about Earth—as an astronomical laboratory, for instance, or an advance base for the exploration of other planets.

The maintenance of such a lunar colony is entirely feasible, in the view of many authorities. Oxygen could probably be extracted from ores, and even water obtained from minerals. In time, the colony could be self-sustaining.

Due to the absence of atmosphere and the danger from cosmic rays and falling meteors, a permanent base may be constructed, at least in part, in the side of a crater or mountain to afford maximum protection. While excavations are underway above, temporary domes shelter the workers.

(2) This cutaway shows suggested layout of a lunar colony. A nuclear reactor supplies power, heat and light to its various sections. A hydroponic garden supplements food supplies from Earth.

The science of biology will play an important part in the establishment of the colony. Special crops, suitable for use on the Moon, may have to be evolved. Although hydroponic farming is still experimental, it will doubtless make great advances long before men reach the Moon. The synthesizing of foods from strains of algae and yeast is already being investigated as a solution to food shortages on Earth.

(3) From the Moon base, now quite extensive and self-sustaining, with its outlying laboratories, observatories and shops, a land train sets out to explore distant areas and survey mineral resources.

At the same time, astronomers study the Earth and the universe. With no haze or intervening atmosphere and no weather to spoil observations, they have an unobstructed view of the stars and planets. A celestial body which will undoubtedly get top priority is Mars, the planet that has intrigued man for centuries.

Next: A Trip to Mars.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Had recent mock air raids on our land been the real thing, stunned war correspondents would have reported that 25 of our cities and 40 millions of our people were no more than radio-active waves. But the raids were not real. So there were no war correspondents sitting in the secret sub-basement ante-room outside an underground conference hall where 200 of our national leaders gathered last July. These were grim times and we play grim games.

The 200 men analyzed the effect of the mock raids—but made no public announcement. It is not pleasant to talk of a bomb—already produced and tested—which can kill 10 million in New York; four million in Chicago or three million in Los Angeles.

There were 11 labor leaders and technicians in that group, acting under the direction of Joseph Keenan national secretary of the International Electrical Workers Brotherhood.

IT WAS HIS TASK, as labor administrative assistant to the director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, among other vital matters, to check and see what remained of the labor movement after the mock raid.

It was also the task of Keenan's group, which included Stanley Rutenberg, national AFL-CIO research director, to patch together the blitzed labor organization so that skilled workers could be strategically reassigned to those factories that were left.

In every one of those 25 cities, every one of the thousands of local and regional labor units had been wiped out. If Washington had been one of those cities, the national AFL-CIO would have shifted to its emergency standby headquarters in Richmond, Va.

This relocation site for the national staff—or what would have been left of it—was set up by AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer William Schnitzler at the direction of President George Meany.

There have been "dry runs" during a mock raid warning. Simulated vital documents have been swiftly packed. A courier took them by car to Richmond.

A government spokesman tells me that important union records have been microfilmed and are in the AFL-CIO's relocated headquarters. A secondary labor chain-of-command has been set up to "assure continuity of operations in any emergency."

THIS IS NO whimsical war game. It was not designed just to make certain that labor has representation in what survives large enough to have men represent it. Without this labor mechanism, the country might not survive. Survival would rest primarily on our ability to stay in production.

If Pittsburgh, for example, calls for 50 electricians, what better than the Electrical Workers Union's central register would have knowledge of such men?

And who better than the local Electrical Workers business agents and union hiring hall dispatchers would know which of them have what special skills, where they live or if they are alive and if they hold expendable jobs.

Even this is not being left to chance. At the moment, Mr. Keenan's group, working with government and business executives, are running a pilot study of all skills in a Midwestern industrial city.

When this survey is completed and the kinks knocked out of the study system, the technique will be spread to every industrial municipality in the land.

BUT MR. KEENAN and his colleagues go off to the secret three-day analytical games for a reason even deeper than the practice analysis of what happened to us after a mock raid. Mr. Keenan is interested in what happens to freedom under the pulverizing pressure of a mass attack.

speed. Mr. Keenan and the labor men have studied post-Pearl Harbor Hawaii.

Martial law was declared there after the Jap attack and it lasted for almost four years. The labor men know the need for compulsory regulation and control of wages, prices, job shifting and production in the radioactive aftermath of an attack. But they went it kept to a minimum.

So when they sit in the secret council and play war games they ask to make it possible for men on the industrial home front to fight for freedom with the greatest possible freedom.

All this is reported on the theory that the more the enemy is aware of our preparations to meet him, the less likely he is to come, burn. Mr. and Mrs. Duncon of Alliance called later in the day.

Mrs. Nora Dowling of Minerva visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Bolen Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Clifford Whinnery and sons Keith and Larry of Salem were Sunday callers of her mother, Mrs. Nora Roach.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Haynam of Guilford were Sunday callers of her mother, Mrs. Nora Roach.

Rev. C. Reed of North Canton will deliver the Sunday morning service at the Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conn were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Beall.

Industrial Athletes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Elbert Q. Tweagle, president of the Giant Acme Tiddlywinks Co., was frankly puzzled.

On his desk lay a letter signed by Frank N. Caustic, foreman of the punchpress crew, an employee for 30 years.

"I hereby resign. It ain't safe around here no more," the letter said.

Tweagle pushed a button. Three-fifths of a second later in raced Albert Beaver, Acme's personnel executive.

"How many employees were killed on the job here in the last five years?" asked Tweagle.

"None, sir."

"How many were hurt at work?"

"None, sir."

"Then what the blazes does this man mean by saying it isn't safe to work here anymore?" demanded Tweagle, who was proud of his company's safety record.

After studying the letter, Beaver said, "Sir, Frank Caustic is a malcontent."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, sir, he was beanballed in a company intramural softball game last week, and he thinks it was deliberate. Anyway, it's just as well he's resigned."

"Why? Is his work slipping?"

"Oh, no, sir, not that. But he's been playing centerfield for the punchpress team, and nobody on the team has spoken to him since he dropped two flies in a row early in the season. They think it's time to get a younger center-fielder."

"Isn't our company sports program perhaps getting a bit out of hand?" said Tweagle.

"Oh, no, sir. It's been great for company morale. You remember what you said when we started it? 'The corporation that plays together, stays together.'"

"I sometimes wonder how much good our company sports program has done health," said Tweagle.

"For example, how many are absent today because of illness?"

"From ordinary illness, sir?" asked Beaver. "None, sir. Of course, some are out with injuries."

"What kind of injuries?"

"Well, sir," replied Beaver. "Three junior executives are out with minor heart attacks from the company tennis tournament. Vice President Blower is out with a broken nose. He tripped over a log in the company golf tournament."

"Then, let's see — there are four girls out with bad knees from the company's ladies basketball tournament. A bookkeeper is out with a brain concussion. He got hit in the head during the company horseshoe pitching tournament. Eight men in the factory were crippled in the company soccer tournament, but two should be back tomorrow. That's about all, sir. But company morale has never been higher."

As Beaver turned to go, Tweagle noticed he was limping.

"Someone dropped a ball on my foot during the company bowling tournament last night, sir," explained Beaver. "The company doctor just told me to go home and spend the rest of the week in bed."

"But don't worry, sir. I'll be back to work in time for the next game. I'm not the kind of man to let the corporation down. If there's one thing you've got here, sir, it's the old team spirit."

"Yeah," said Tweagle, "but isn't it about time the team started making tiddlywinks instead of hospital cases?"

KILLED IN FALL

DOVER, Ohio (AP) — Rodney West, 3, was killed when he fell from a tractor-drawn wagon and was run over by two wheels. Sheriff's deputies said the boy had gone to an orchard yesterday with his father, Walter, of Dover, to pick peaches. The accident happened as they were leaving the orchard.

More than 800,000 deaths occur annually from heart and circulatory diseases.

'Down On The Farm'

News of Meetings, Helpful Hints For Farmers

Information on timely insect control for the month of September, prepared by D. Lyle Goleman, extension entomologist at Ohio State University, has been received by county farm agent Floyd Lower. The information is presented below.

Boxelder Bugs

Boxelder bugs are a common nuisance during the fall and in warm days in winter when they swarm into houses or congregate in great numbers upon tree trunks, porches, walls etc.

During the summer these bugs feed on the foliage of boxelder the trees to seek shelter in homes or buildings. They cause the housewife much anguish when they get inside the home.

They are difficult to control, but Chlordane, or Dieldrin sprays applied to the tree trunks, or wherever the bugs are congregated, give fair control. The spray should be directed at the bugs. Repeat Goleman said.

Chicken Mites

Chicken mites are often found infesting poultry flocks. Both the chicken mite and the feather mite EXPECTED GUEST - Dr. Arturo Frondizi, president of Argentina, is expected to visit the United States late in September. In February he won the six-year presidential term in the first free election held since Juan Peron's dictatorship.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Few things make a worse impression than trying to make an impression. The person who is insincere and tries to show off reveals his insincerity as obviously as if he had said that he was insincere.

In fact, a show of trying to impress our friends with our importance shows us to be less important than any humility could make us appear.

The Bible has quite a bit to say about the person who prays to be heard of men or who puts on a show of self-righteousness. God does not respect the person who talks one way and lives another.

If we looked at ourselves in even a mirror of silvered glass, we could doubtless see our own two-facedness. We are inclined to think that others will not see the real us if we make a good impression. We cannot talk about loving God when we hate our fellowmen or when we discredit them to others. Criticizing others is really criticizing ourselves.

When you begin carefully counting your calories because you're on a reducing diet, remember that skipping meals is just as bad as over eating. One of the most important nutrients needed in the diet when reducing is protein. Three ounces of cooked lean meat is an adequate amount for a lunch menu... four ounces for the dinner menu.
